We are giad to note that the people of North Kons, are turning their attention to the cultivation takings, became it is only by and through such men that of tobacco, a plant that is said to flourish there with great luxuriance. By next November the people of North Kons expect to get out of their pilikis for food, as the prospect for abundance of D C Murray, from San Francisco, with passengers and mer-chander to C Brown & Co., and American schr Jos Wool-that have fallen in the past two months have done

A large stock of gentlemen's white dress shirts, from the celebrated house of Atkinson, can be found at the Great Eastern, Fort street.

Dr. F. Leslie Miger, whose card appears in this issue, is a native of the State of Vermont, United States, having received his professional education in Montreal, Canada, and London, England. The doctor came to these Islands with the Portuguese immigrants recently arrived, at the urgent request of Dr. Hildebrand. His testimonials ertifying to his qualifications are from the highest nedical and surgical authorities of London

Acute Senses or Women.-The marked superiority of women over men is in few points more remarkable than in their powers of smelling and tasting. A woman will detect the faintest odor of tobacco when a man, even though a non-smoker often falls to to discover any symptoms of it. As with smell so with taste, in which women are marvelously scute and instidious. This faculty has been graciously recognized at the Paris Exposition. The mustard congress consists of 12 gentlemen and an equal number of ladice. This arrangement, it is stated, is owing to a suggestion that the palates of men are vitlated by smoking, whereas women, who do not as a rule indulge in that perni-nicious habit, are likely to be better quaified to form a correct opinion on the merits of condi-

ed warehouse being erected by the Government in atter piace Oct. 12, making the passegs in less than sixteen | the rear of the Custom House, will be a handsome improvement when finished. The location of the new bonded warehouse is much better than the former one which was immediately on the water front. The site occupied by the old bonded warehouse will be very valuable to the Goveroment as a locality for unloading heavy and bulky freight from vessels, whilst it will be a great convenience to shippers. We note also the erection of a large and powerful crane for Hon, W. L. Green, on the Esplanade Wharf, for loading and unloading heavy freight. This last improvement was much needed and will facilitate the handling of the For San Francisco, per Halakana, Oct 8-252 S10 He sugar,

> STRUGGLE FOR A DIAMOND CROSS.—The co STRUGGLE FOR A DIAMOND CROSS.—The continued hearing of the search warrant case of the diamond cross claimed by Mrs. C. C. Huntley was had in the Police Court yesterday. The cross was lost some three years ago by the claimant at Honoinia, and it was subsequently found in a pawn-broker's store where it had been pawned by one Miss Kellogg. A large number of witnesses were examined as to the identity of the cross in dispute, which was finally awarded to the claimant.

We clip the above from the San Francisco Chronicie of a recent date. The diamond cross referred to, is one that was stolen from the Hawaiian Hotel in this city, about three years ago; on which occasion some people were unkind enough to make very flippant remarks. Such as, "It nover was stolen from the botel size at a "The discovery of stoles from the hotel, etc., etc." The discovery of the cross, and the controversy about its ownership in San Francisco, as detailed above go to prove McWATNE-ROBINSON —In Honolula, October 2th. at the rasidence of the bride's mother, in Nousau Valley, by the Rev. The Hawaiian schooner Haunani having been successfully loaded with the heavy machinery imported for the Kapapala Plantation Company, left yesterday for Kau. We understand that the contract with the company here is to carry the machinery to Kau, where the company are to assume all responsibility of its landing. We trust mances. that the machinery will be safely landed at its destination. This machinery is the most ponderons of any on these Islands, and as a consequence the most costly. When put in position the Kapapala Plantation Company will be prepared to grind any amount of sugar cane, and to rush into market a large amount of sugar annually.

FAREWELL BENEFIT .- Mr. Luproll, the successor of Mr. Charles Derby as manager of the Royal Hawarian Theatre, will take a farewell benefit at the theatre, on Saturday evening next, on which occasion he will give an entertainment that will please all who may favor him with their patronage. Mr. Luproll contemplates going east, and takes this occasion to raise the means to defray his expenses We trust that the people of this city will give him a hearty support on the occasion of his farewell benefit, as he is a very deserving man. The pro-gramme will be announced by handbills, to which we invite attention. Turn out on masse, and give Mr. L. a bouncing send off on Salurday evening.

CONCERT ABANDONED.-We learn that the musical performance heretofore spoken of to be given by Madame Jenny Claus, has been abandoned by that lady. The reason for so doing is, that in cosequence of the liberal contributions already made by our citizens, for the vellow fever sufferers of the Southern States of America, (of which Madame Claus was not aware when she thought of giving her concert), they do not sympathise sufficiently with Madame Claus' project to warrant her in going on with it. We regret this for two good reasons. First, we would have been pleased to have seen a good turn out on such an occasion, for a ent object so worthy, and second, because the public will be deprived of the pleasure of hear-ing so magnificent a performer as Madame Claus. We hope however, that before long our people will have the pleasure of hearing her; if she will favor us with a private concert at her convenience. In this wish, we know a very large number of the best citizens join us.

IMPORTANT NOTIFICATION.—By the politeness of the Postmaster General of this Kingdom we are informed that the Post Office Department at Washington has notified the Postmaster at San Francisco, that under the provisions of the Postal Convention of Berne, for the formation of a feareral Postal Union, the following classes of correspondence, addressed to any foreign country of the Union, cannot be transmitted in the malls. the wheat crop of France in 1877, was 274,800,000 bushels against 265,020,000 bushels in 1876. Latest advices, indicate a favorable report for 1878. Several leading English crockery manufacturers have quit business and determined to transfer their business from England to Trenton, New Jersey, U. Great efforts are being made by Philadelphia manufacturers of machinery to supply the markets of South America, and from present indications their efforts are successful. Like efforts have been successful, as we see, in Mexico; for we have the information that three Americans, who could speak Spanish, traveled through Mexico, and received from the Mexicans a number of orders for machinery. The New York Journal of Commerce, (high authority) calls attention to the fact of the astonishing rapidity with which Japan has Americanized her insti-tutions. CRIMES IN CARIFORNIA.—One of the most atrocious crimes over recorded has just been brought to light in California and substantiated in all its horrors by the confession of the parties concerned. Troy Dye was the public administrator of Sarramento county, where business in his line, it seems, was very dull. The hard times bore down so heavily upon him that he concluded if people with large catates wouldn't die naturally he would have to encourage them in some way. He employed a counter courage them in some way. He employed a couple of assassins at three thousand dollars each to work up some business for the public administrator, and op some business for the public administrator, and they went at their work with such well-directed efthey went at their work with such well-directed ef-value. This scheme did not succeed altogether as well as the parties had hoped, owing to the resitiess-fort that in a little while they had killed a rich old orchardist, named Tullis, and the public administra-tor was dealing with his cetate, worth a hundred thousand deliars. In order to have some margin of profit commensurate with his fine abilities, Dye caused the estate to be appraised at half its actual

After the arrests the parties made confessions in the presence of the District Attorney, the administrator endeavoring to show that he had been led into the endeavoring to show that he had been led into the husiness by the urging of others, while the assassins have doubtless told the simple truth in saying that they were hired to carry out the bloody plans which Dyo had devised. Dye has hitherto been considered an upright and honest man, and were it not for his confession it might have been very difficult to make the people of Sacramento believe that he had been a party to a murder of this character. It is peculiarly strocious, and the confessions read like wild ro-
